4. The risks of modern slavery practices in our operations and supply chains

4.1 Operations

(a) Our workforce

Based on the geographical location of our operations, the nature of our operations and the nature of our workforce, we consider there is a low risk of modern slavery in our operations.

The Group operates in the financial services industry and the majority of the Group’s workforce is based in Italy, which is considered a jurisdiction with a relatively low risk for modern slavery practices\(^10\). The same can be said for the workforce based in the UK and Australia\(^11\).

Our employees are subject to background checks before commencing employment, and we take steps to ensure that we comply with applicable local labour laws and workplace health and safety laws.

Our employees also have written contracts of employment. We occasionally use recruitment agencies to fill vacancies in our workforce, but when we do so we only use reputable agencies, and we pay all costs associated with the recruitment process. Employees never have to pay a fee to get a job at Intesa Sanpaolo.

Foreign nationals are employed on the basis that the particular employee has the required work permit (and visa status) to work in that particular jurisdiction. They are employed in accordance with the relevant jurisdiction’s work immigration criteria.

(b) Financial products and lending

As financial institutions, we acknowledge that there is an inherent modern slavery risk associated with our investment, financing and lending services. Our connection to these risks is remote and we are not directly involved in the operations of our customers, but we acknowledge that we could lend or provide finance to customers in inherently high-risk sectors that have modern slavery risks in their operations and/or supply chains. Certain sectors and industries may have higher modern slavery risks because of their characteristics, products, and processes. For example, where we finance mining, manufacturing, and construction projects, we may contribute to or be directly linked to modern slavery. We may also be directly linked to modern slavery risks through our business relationships with business partners and investees. As a general oversight on social risks, we have (i) issued specific Group Guidelines for the

\(^9\) The Group procurement model is structured in two models: in the “centralised procurement” model the Procurement Head Office Department directly carries out the purchasing activities for the Group entities or assists them; while in the “independent procurement” model, the Group entities carry out independently the purchasing activities, according to their own processes, as regards commodity categories which are not covered by the centralised procurement process. The principles and rules defined in Guidelines and in the Procurement Rules described below apply to both model.

\(^10\) https://www.globalslaveryindex.org/

Governance of ESG Risks (see page 12), (ii) introduced an ESG score which aims to evaluate the ESG profile of corporate customers (using data from external and internal sources and concerning the most important risk and opportunity indicators in the three ESG dimensions which include for example, about the social dimension, labour management and standards, occupational health and safety and human capital development), and (iii) constituted the ESG & Reputational Risk Clearing (see page 13).

4.2 Supply Chain

The risk of modern slavery within our supply chain is considered to be low because we aim to assess the majority of our suppliers across various metrics including (but not limited to) business ethics, respect for human rights, workers’ rights and the environment. That said and having regard to our top categories of procurement spend, we have identified that there are two categories of suppliers which are potentially at higher risk of modern slavery. These are suppliers within the ‘information and communication technology’ industry category and suppliers within the ‘real estate’ industry category. Products and services within these categories typically involve complex supply chains. We have less visibility of the lower tiers of these supply chains, which is why we have assessed these industry categories as being at a higher risk of modern slavery.

5. Assessing and Addressing Modern Slavery Risks

Intesa Sanpaolo recognises that it has a responsibility to respect human rights and is committed to identifying, mitigating and where possible preventing, potential adverse human rights impacts connected to its own activities, as guided by the UNGPs.

Intesa Sanpaolo’s approach to identifying and addressing modern slavery risk, and human rights risks more broadly, is global and Intesa Sanpaolo aims to consistently apply this approach across the Group (including to the Reporting Entities covered by this modern slavery statement).

Intesa Sanpaolo aims to act, and ensure the Group acts, consistently with the ten principles of the UN Global Compact, which are as follows:

Human Rights

- Principle 1: Businesses should support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights; and
- Principle 2: make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses.

Labour

- Principle 3: Businesses should uphold the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining;
- Principle 4: the elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labour;
- Principle 5: the effective abolition of child labour; and
- Principle 6: the elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation.

Environment

- Principle 7: Businesses should support a precautionary approach to environmental challenges;
- Principle 8: undertake initiatives to promote greater environmental responsibility; and
- Principle 9: encourage the development and diffusion of environmentally friendly technologies.

Anti-Corruption

- Principle 10: Businesses should work against corruption in all its forms, including extortion and bribery.

Intesa Sanpaolo also aims to respect, and ensure the Group respects, the fundamental rights established by the eight conventions of the International Labour Organisation (ILO) as stated in the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work, in particular the right of association and collective bargaining, the prohibition of forced and child labour and non-discrimination in the workplace.
Intesa Sanpaolo’s approach to human rights and sustainability is overseen by the Board of Directors with the support of the Risks and Sustainability Committee. There is also a Steering Committee - Business Plan and Sustainability (ESG) Session - and ESG Control Room which contribute to and collaborate on ESG issues and the management of ESG risk across the Group.

Intesa Sanpaolo’s processes and policies to address the risks of modern slavery in our operations and supply chains are detailed below. These processes and policies aim to apply across the Group worldwide, including the Reporting Entities covered by this modern slavery statement.

5.1 Policies

The policy framework outlined below defines areas of responsibility towards each stakeholder, from employees and customers, to suppliers. These policies are made available to employees (for instance on the internal company intranet), who also receive training on the content of these policies.

Group Code of Ethics

The Group Code of Ethics is a voluntary, self-regulating tool that is an integral part of the Group’s risk management strategy. It describes the values in which the Group believes and to which it is committed, outlining the principles of conduct which derive from the context of the relationship with each stakeholder and, consequently, raising the standards that each person within the Group must maintain in order to merit the trust of all stakeholders. The Group Code of Ethics contains the principles that regulate our relationships with stakeholders. In certain particularly relevant areas (for example, human rights, employment protection, environmental protection, the fight against corruption) the Code refers to rules and principles that are consistent with international standards. The Group Code of Ethics outlines our commitment to, amongst other things, the principles established by the fundamental conventions of the ILO and in particular the right of association and collective bargaining, the prohibition of forced and child labour and non-discrimination in hiring practices.

Group Internal Code of Conduct

Our Group Internal Code of Conduct includes a prohibition on activity aimed at harming human dignity and aims to ensure that all recipients of the code maintain the utmost respect for every person’s dignity and personality. This is applicable across our business to: management board members and key function holders, members of the management and control bodies, employees, non-employee financial advisors, agents, and external collaborators (such as consultants and suppliers). The provisions also apply to workers under supply contracts and participants of internship/traineeship initiatives, insofar as they are compatible with the activities carried out and the rules governing the relevant relationships.

Principles of Human Rights

Adopting a human rights commitment is key to managing modern slavery risk. Our commitment to human rights is described in the Principles of Human Rights. This is brought to employees’ attention through digital contents informed by their respective areas of operation, roles and responsibilities. There is a section of this Policy which applies directly to suppliers. The following principles from the Policy derive from the established principles into the Group Code of Ethics:

- non-discrimination based on gender, age, ethnic origin, religion, political persuasion and union association, sexual orientation and gender identity, language or disability;
- right to health and safety and avoiding commercial relationships with suppliers involved in violations of workplace health and safety standards;
- countering the forms of child labour and forced labour.

We seek to avoid commercial relationships with suppliers involved in violations of these principles.

Diversity and Inclusion Principles

The Principles confirm and make more effective Group’s commitment to implement and disseminate – inside and outside of the Group – a policy for the inclusion of all forms of diversity (gender, gender identity and/or gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status and family status, age, ethnicity, religious belief, political affiliation and affiliation to unions, nationality, language, cultural background, physical and psychological conditions or any other feature of each individual, also including the expression of one’s own thought).
Group Anti-Corruption Guidelines

Our Group Anti-Corruption Guidelines identify principles, sensitive areas and define roles, responsibilities and macro-processes for the Group’s management of corruption risk, further strengthening the internal regulatory framework already characterized by the presence of the Group Code of Ethics, the Group Internal Code of Conduct and - for the Group’s Italian companies – the Model 231/2001 adopted under Italian Legislative Decree 231/2001. The Guidelines apply to management board members and key function holders, members of the management and control bodies and to all Group personnel as well as to external parties who cooperate with the Group in carrying out its activities.

Group Procurement Guidelines

Our Group Procurement Guidelines require that in regard to sourcing and procurement we (amongst other things) respect human rights, proper employment conditions and business ethics, through measures and resources that minimise negative impacts and promote an awareness of risks and social and environmental opportunities. The Group Procurement Guidelines also require that we comply with regulations on health and safety in the workplace, including in relation to the risks that service providers and suppliers are exposed to when operating on premises made available by a Group company.

Group Guidelines for the Governance of ESG Risks

To advance the sustainability of our operating model over the long-term, we attribute particular emphasis to monitoring and controlling non-financial risks, model risk, reputational risks and ESG and climate change risks. We are aware of the importance of fair, responsible allocation of the resources and the influence that a banking group can have in terms of sustainability. We therefore aim to pay particular attention to managing ESG risk. Our approach to managing ESG risk is guided by an internal regulatory framework consisting of a set of internal ESG risk related guidelines. The Group Guidelines for the Governance of ESG Risks provide among other things that the Group undertakes not to finance companies and projects if these are located in areas of active armed conflict, or if evidence emerges, such as legal proceedings and judgements relating to human rights violations, or forced or child labour practices. The purpose of these Guidelines is to define: 1) a list of “sensitive sectors”; 2) general criteria to limit and exclude loans in line with the definitions set out in the document; 3) detailed criteria applicable to individual sensitive sectors through the application of specific sector regulations.

Policy on the integration of sustainability risks and information on the adverse impacts on sustainability factors in the provision of investment advisory services or in insurance distribution advice

The document12, prepared in accordance with Arts. 3 and 4 of Regulation 2019/2088/EU, illustrates Intesa Sanpaolo’s policy regarding the integration of environmental, social and governance sustainability risks and provides information on how Intesa Sanpaolo considers the main negative effects on sustainability factors (Principal Adverse Impact) in its investment advisory and insurance distribution advice.

Rules for combatting sexual harassment

The Rules for combatting sexual harassment state the Group’s strong commitment to preventing and combatting any form of sexual harassment to ensure full respect for each person and the maximum protection of each person’s dignity.

Group Rules on Internal Systems for reporting violations (Whistleblowing)

Since 2016, a whistleblowing system has been in place, which allows employees to report actions or occurrences that could constitute breaches of the regulations governing banking activities (whistleblowing). Whistleblowing, which ensures the confidentiality of the individual making the report without the risk of retaliatory, unfair or discriminatory behaviour, encourages employees (including suppliers and consultants) to report acts or conduct they become aware of that may constitute a breach of the regulations governing banking activities or related activities that may also be instrumental to a breach or other illicit conduct.

Whistleblowing reports are managed through communication channels specified in the Group Rules on Internal Systems for reporting violations (Whistleblowing), while for reports of alleged non-compliance with the code of ethics specific e-mail addresses are available.

12 This Policy (defined in 2021 and updated on 2022) during the reporting period consisted of two separate documents, one for Article 3 and one for Article 4 of Regulation 2019/2088/EU.
Other rules and principles on financial product and lending

We adopt a holistic approach to financial product and lending, and we defined specific policies, rules and dedicated structures.

Intesa Sanpaolo defined also a set of rules for lending operation in the unconventional oil & gas sector, coal sector and armaments sector.

Furthermore:

- complies with the Equator Principles (EP) since 2007: Guidelines for social and environmental risk assessment and management in projects, based on criteria recommended by the International Finance Corporation, a World Bank organization;
- constituted the ESG & Reputational Risk Clearing, which is aimed at the ex-ante identification and assessment of the potential reputational and ESG risks associated with the most significant business operations and the selection of the Intesa Sanpaolo’s suppliers/partners/customers\(^\text{13}\).

5.2 Supplier selection and the 'Supplier Gate' platform

Intesa Sanpaolo recognises its social and environmental responsibilities along the whole supply chain and for this reason, Intesa Sanpaolo:

(a) selects, through clear and verifiable criteria, suppliers that found their activity on social and environmental sustainability and that adopt measures and tools necessary to minimise possible negative impacts triggered by their action; and

(b) steers suppliers and sub-suppliers’ policies towards respecting human rights, labour rights and environmental protection.

Most of Intesa Sanpaolo’s, Eurizon Capital SGR S.p.A.’s and Intesa Sanpaolo Assicura S.p.A.’s suppliers are registered onto an e-sourcing application platform called 'Supplier Gate'. This platform assesses suppliers on a number of factors, including economic-financial and technical-organisational characteristics of each supplier, and the ethics of the business, respect for human rights, workers’ rights and the environment. A positive assessment means that suppliers are registered with the Group Suppliers Master and can be invited to tender for certain services which the Group may require. The supplier assessment process through the 'Supplier Gate' platform aims to ensure transparency, regularity and equality in the verification, control and monitoring of suppliers. With regard to the checks carried out on suppliers and third parties, when registering with 'Supplier Gate' the supplier is required to complete a mandatory questionnaire on social and environmental responsibility issues and provide supporting documentation. Inspections regarding compliance with social criteria are conducted by internal staff and involve technical documents regarding buildings (maintenance) and people (cleaning).

5.3 Contractual arrangements with suppliers

Intesa Sanpaolo through the 'Supplier Gate' portal requires suppliers to declare that they have read and are familiar with the contents of the Group Code of Ethics and the Group Internal Code of Conduct. Intesa Sanpaolo also requires them to undertake, where applicable, when fulfilling their contractual obligations, to take all necessary measures to prevent any conduct that may prove relevant under Italian Legislative Decree 231/2001, and the anti-money laundering and anti-corruption legislation.

On request, certain suppliers must also submit documentation that proves their ongoing compliance with the social and environmental obligations they have undertaken, and also the compliance of any subcontractors. Intesa Sanpaolo’s standard terms and conditions require suppliers to guarantee that the treatment of employees with respect to economic conditions, wages, pensions, insurance and accident prevention is not lower than the minimum standards outlined in applicable laws, regulations or collective bargaining agreements. These standard contractual terms and conditions oblige suppliers and subcontractors (if applicable) to operate in compliance with laws on the environment, ecology and waste management (including laws on the circulation and disposal of waste electrical and electronic equipment) and, where requested, to document this compliance at any time.

\(^\text{13}\) The information used for the ESG & Reputational risk clearing activity are based on the counterparty’s disclosure and selected ESG external providers.
6. Measuring the Effectiveness of our Actions

The mechanisms already in place that allow us to assess the effectiveness of our actions include:

(a) Human rights

The implementation and progressive improvement of human rights’ protection is monitored through:

(i) the evaluation of the implementation and governance of the Group Code of Ethics, assessed by an independent third party according to the UNI ISO 26000 international standard, with a specific focus on human rights issues;

(ii) sustainability reporting, which involves stakeholder engagement and defines improvement targets and the related performance indicators, which are subject to certification by an independent third-party auditor.

(b) Diversity and inclusion

Intesa Sanpaolo was the first bank in Italy and among the first in Europe to receive, in June 2021, the Gender Equality and Diversity European & International Standard (GEEIS-Diversity), an international certification issued by an independent certifier, aimed at assessing the commitment of organisations towards diversity and inclusion. As proof of its ongoing commitment to inclusion, Intesa Sanpaolo is the first major Italian banking group to obtain gender equality certification for its commitment to diversity and inclusion according to the criteria set out in the National Recovery and Resilience Plan (NRRP) in Mission 5 “Inclusion and Cohesion”. The UNI/PdR 125:2022 certification obtained by Intesa Sanpaolo is based on the Guidelines on the Management System for Gender Equality, published in March 2022 by the Department for Equal Opportunities of the Council of Ministers as part of the commitment to gender equality enshrined in the NRRP to produce sustainable and lasting change in corporate gender policies by adopting specific KPIs.

(c) Occupational Health and Safety

Since 201714 Intesa Sanpaolo has implemented an Occupational Health and Safety Management System which is certified every year by an international third-party according to the ISO 45001 standard. Applied in all branches and buildings across Italy, the System ensures the continuous monitoring of objectives and is also subject to internal audits to assess if its performance levels meet expectations.

(d) Anti-corruption

Intesa Sanpaolo obtained in May 2019, as the first Italian bank, the "UNI ISO 37001:2016 Anti-bribery management systems” certification, issued by an independent certifier. The certification has been confirmed in subsequent years; on June 14, 2022, the independent certifier issued the certificate of compliance - valid until May 6, 2025 - to Intesa Sanpaolo, its operating points in Italy and abroad, and the Group's other banking, financial and insurance companies.

(e) The ‘Supplier Gate’ platform

Intesa Sanpaolo is able to monitor most of the supply chain through the ‘Supplier Gate’ platform. This platform also allows Intesa Sanpaolo to consistently evaluate suppliers on the main social, economic, financial, and environmental aspects. This includes the minimum sustainability requirements and the standards of the International Labour Organization covering fundamental human rights, child labour, freedom of association, health and safety, and business ethics. Suppliers are expected to be familiar with, inter alia, the Organization, Management and Control Model under Legislative Decree 231/2001, the Group Code of Ethics and the Group Internal Code of Conduct – the platform is able to monitor whether a supplier has viewed these documents. For Financial Year 2022 there were 9,770 suppliers registered on the ‘Supplier Gate’ platform. 5,234 of these suppliers were based in Italy and 4,265 were based in other parts of Europe. 271 were from other countries around the world. Approximately 98% of the total order value relates to suppliers based in Europe.

14 In 2022 Intesa Sanpaolo renewed the compliance certification of its Occupational Health and Safety Management System with the UNI ISO 45001:2018 standard.
7. Consultation

This modern slavery statement has been prepared pursuant to section 54 of the UK Modern Slavery Act and section 14 of the Australian Modern Slavery Act in respect of the financial year from 1 January 2022 to 31 December 2022.

In preparing this modern slavery statement, the relevant directors and officers of the Reporting Entities making this statement were consulted and provided with an opportunity to review the statement prior to its approval.

8. Any other relevant information

The impacts of COVID-19 are widely recognised as increasing the risk of modern slavery, particularly amongst vulnerable groups within society. In Financial Year 2022 we have continued to apply measures to protect our employees and customers during the COVID-19 pandemic, focusing first and foremost on our people and prioritising their health, safety and well-being.

In addition, with a view to fostering inclusion and proximity to the most vulnerable situations, support was also provided in various ways to communities, families and businesses to counter the effects generated by the difficult economic and social context that characterised 2022.

In the 2022-2025 Business Plan, Intesa Sanpaolo made a commitment to disburse 25 billion euro of social lending throughout the whole period and in 2022 the Group disbursed new loans for about 9 billion euro, equal to 11% of all loans disbursed. The Bank has thus contributed to creating business and employment opportunities and to helping people in difficulty through various forms, as provided for in the new Plan: anti-usury loans; products and services for associations and bodies in the Third Sector; products dedicated to the most vulnerable social groups to promote their financial inclusion; loans to support populations affected by disasters; other social loans.

More information can be found in our 2022 Consolidated Non-financial Statement [i].
9. Board Approval

(a) This statement has been approved by the Board of Directors of Intesa Sanpaolo, on 13th June 2023, being the principal governing body of the reporting entity under the Australian Modern Slavery Act and one of the reporting entities for the purposes of the UK Modern Slavery Act.
